Case Study - Eton College Flooring Preparation

The work of a sub-contractor is a varied and interesting one. In May 2017, Gritblasting UK undertook a contract for Eton College. Steeped in history and dating from 1440, this Windsor based institution had the floor of one of its larger rooms renovated by our team.

Using our latest new electric diamond floor grinder, we removed the existing coatings from 330 square metres of concrete flooring, ensuring a perfectly prepared surface for new coatings to be applied.

Working in an architecturally historic building is not without its challenges but with careful preparation, experience and the right equipment we were able to provide our contractors with the flooring outcome they wanted.

Using our knowledge and experience along with our range of diamond floor grinders, Gritblasting UK can grind concrete flooring. This can provide the perfect preparation prior to the application of epoxy coatings and flooring paints. By removing rubber deposits, adhesives, bitumen coatings and impacted dirt from factory and warehouse floors, we leave a prepared surface ready for recoating.

We have developed a broad range of clients which include Private individuals, building contractors, local authorities, carpenters, plasterers, reclamation yards, machine restorers, damp proofers, interior designers, civil engineers, steel erectors and decorators. We work with large and smaller construction companies. As well as undertaking the work we offer advice and support to other professionals.

We are familiar with modern procurement procedures and work alongside contractors and sub-contractors to provide an efficient and 'value for money' service. Our investment in new technologies, training and the latest equipment ensures we are knowledgeable and competent for all surface preparation and application jobs.
